

PROJECT TRUANCY

Truancy made EASY.

Built on the award-winning Project Education platform, Project Truancy is a customizable web-based program, that allows districts to respond and track attendance issues quickly and effectively. Trigger alerts let district personnel know when a student has accumulated a predetermined number of unexcused absences and pre-populates the required forms with critical information to save users time.

Reports and dashboard graphs give districts the ability to see trends by grade level, student circumstances, and intervention plans as well as celebrate positive gains from the Truancy program.

Our exclusive partnership with Payton, Nix, Lyons and Associates, adds a combined 100 years of courtroom and school district truancy experience to Project Education. Their expertise, combined with the Project Education platform, gives districts the best truancy tracking product available.

Project Truancy Features

Project Students-on-Service - Project Education is a great way to plan, track, and certify students' volunteer efforts to give back to the community through the Students-on-Service feature. The award winning, easy-to-use Project Education platform contains forms to track service from high school graduation requirements to court ordered hours. Project Education allows districts to track students' efforts in a reportable fashion. Students get certifications showing their work. The district reports and dashboards can show up to date trends and track changes in culture when used school wide.

Navigating the Truancy Process Doesn't Have to be Difficult

We can help you navigate the truancy maze while making a significant difference with at-risk students. Payton, Nix, Lyons and Associates consulting services gives districts the tools they need to tackle truancy and how to set up Students-on-Service program and district truancy tribunals. Project Education's Truancy add-on products support your mission.

Project Tribunal - Judge John Payton, of Payton, Nix, Lyons and Associates, can show you how to set up your own in-district court system allowing you to take control of all of your truancy needs. The system of procedures and forms found in the Project Tribunal works with the district student information system to pull all critical data needed while tracking truancy tribunal accountability.
